

three or four months; but owing to a difficulty between Capt. Gillespie and Robinson, resulting from a contested election for the Captaincy of the Company, the contest being between Gillespie and Robinson, Robinson withdrew from Gillespie's Company and joined another, after which time Gillespie entertaining bitter feelings against Robinson threw every obstacle in the way of Robinson's proving up his service, insomuch that Robinson was unable to obtain his Bounty, although clearly entitled to the same. We furthermore state it as our firm impression and belief, as fully as we can in relation to any fact to which we were not eye-witnesses and able to attest by our oaths - that Judge Robinson actually performed the services during the Revolution entitling him fully to the pension under the act of the Legislature granting same; and we believe, if from any defect in the proof on file in your office, he should fail to obtain the same, injustice will be done to an honest man, a veteran, now in straitened circumstances, and a gallant soldier of the Revolution.

We would further represent to your Honor that we are well acquainted with Judge L. Robinson's present circumstances - He is the head of a large family, verging upon his 70th year, taxed with the support of three widowed daughters and their families - all dependant upon his single exertions for their support and
